

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Introduction

¶ DISTINGUISHED MEN OF PHILADELPHIA AND OF PENNSYLVANIA is intended to be a book of ready utility for the newspaper editor and artist. It is issued as a practical publication to meet the newspaper demand for illustration.

¶ The achievements of men of Philadelphia and of Pennsylvania have been indelibly written in the history of the Republic. In no other city in the world has patriotism been more manifest. Much encouragement has been given the publisher to undertake the compilation of this volume.

¶ Biographically, the work contains salient facts furnished by the subjects themselves.

¶ The chief aim, however, is to put into the reference libraries of the American publishers, reproductions in half-tones of recent photographs of men prominent in the commercial, professional, official, political and social activity of the State of Pennsylvania.

T. E. MITTEN, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, was born in Brighton, Sussex, England, in 1865. When ten years old he came to America and his early training in traction business was obtained from the operating departments of steam roads. In 1896 he became assistant superintendent of the electric lines of Milwaukee, Wis., and later became general superintendent. In 1901 he was chosen general superintendent of the International Railway Company with lines about Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N. Y. In 1905 Mr. Mitten was elected vice president of the International system, retaining that position when he became president of the Chicago City Railways Company. In June, 1911, he was elected to his present office in Philadelphia.

ALLEXANDER VAN RENSSELAER, scion of an old Knickerbocker family, famous in the early history of New York and a graduate of Princeton University. His varied interests are expressive of his versatility and his keen appreciation of the diverse pleasures of modern life. He is a cosmopolitan and has been a world-wide traveler. He speaks many European languages and is well known in all the large cities of Europe. As clubman, yachtsman, business man and social leader he ranks high in American Society.

It is as a yachtsman he is best known. The pennant of his famous yacht May is known to every port on the Atlantic Seaboard and most of the European harbors. She is attached to the Corinthian Yacht Club of which Mr. Van Rensselaer is a commodore.

The splendid loyalty of the man was demonstrated during the Spanish-American War. Realizing that the government needed auxiliary ships as adjuncts to the Navy, Mr. Van Rensselaer tendered the May to the Navy Department without cost. He stripped the May of all its furnishings and fitted it out as a hospital ship and sailed with it to Cuban waters.

For this act he received the thanks and commendation of President McKinley and of Secretary Long, of the Navy Department.

He is renowned for his unostentatious charity. Sandy Hill Farm, a portion of his Camp Hill estate, has been set aside for the children of the city's poor. Hundreds of them every summer enjoy the freedom and comfort of a vacation. Besides this, he and his wife are upon the lists of contributors to innumerable charities. As a citizen of Philadelphia he has been interested in the various movements to accelerate the city's growth and development.

He is a member of many exclusive clubs of Philadelphia, New York and Newport.

AMUEL TAYLOR BODINE, president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia, has been for more than thirty years one of the greatest factors in the development of the utilities company. It was on August 23, 1854, that Mr. Bodine, son of Samuel Tucker and Louisa Wylie (Milliken) Bodine, was born in Philadelphia. He is the descendant of an old French family, the first member of which to come to America, Francis Bodine, was the founder of the American Line.

Mr. Bodine attended the Germantown Academy and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1873. Three years later he was awarded the degree of Master of Arts by the University. Soon after he left the University he became a shipping clerk for the Royersford Iron Foundry Co., at Royersford, Pa., and occupied the same position with the Cohansey Glass Co., at Bridgeton, N. J., two years later. For six years he was in charge of the commercial work of the engineering department and repair shops of the Red Star and American Lines, and then, in 1882, at the organization of the U. G. I., became secretary and treasurer of that company. In 1888 he became general manager; in February, 1892, second vice-president; in February, 1904, first vice-president, continuing all the while as general manager. Since March 16, 1912, he has been the company's president.

Mr. Bodine is a director and first vice-president of the Welsbach Co.; a director of the Franklin National Bank, Commercial Trust Co., and the Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities; one of the managers of the Western Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia; trustee of the Academy of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Philadelphia and of William G. Warden Estate. He is a member of the Rittenhouse, University and Racquet Clubs of Philadelphia; University Club, N. Y.; Germantown and Merion Cricket Clubs; Essex Country Club, Manchester, Mass.; American Universities Club of London.

November 15, 1883, he married Eleanor G., daughter of the late William G. Warden. They have a son and two daughters.

JOHN E. REYBURN, Mayor of the City of Philadelphia from 1908 to 1912, has been active in politics for more than forty years. He was born February 7, 1845, in a small Ohio town, the son of William S. Reyburn, who, with his family, moved to Philadelphia thirteen years later. When the Confederate General Price, with his raiders, were threatening Kansas, Mr. Reyburn, who was visiting in Leavenworth, took part in the campaign against him.

He left the University of Pennsylvania in 1866 and entered the law office of the late E. Spencer Miller; in 1870 he was elected to the legislature and served in 1871, 1874, 1875 and 1876. Then he was sent to the State Senate, acting as president pro tem. in 1883; in 1890 he took his seat in Congress and in 1907 was elected Mayor of Philadelphia.

It was on June 2, 1881, at Leavenworth, Kansas, that Mr. Reyburn married Margretta Crozier. Two children are living—William Stuart Reyburn and Eleanor Crozier Reyburn. Never since Mr. Reyburn came to Philadelphia has his home been more than one block from his present residence at Nineteenth and Spring Garden Streets.

PORTER, GEORGE D., Director of Public Safety for the City of Philadelphia, was born at Vinton, Iowa, September 8, 1875. His parents were Pennsylvanians; his father had served in the 197th Pa. Vol. Reg. in the Civil War, and his grandfather, from Lancaster county, in the Revolutionary War. Before coming to Philadelphia Mr. Porter was a bookkeeper in a bank at Tallapoosa, Ga., and after coming here was associated with Eli K. Price, a lawyer, in the management of estates. He entered municipal politics in 1900 and in 1906 was sent to councils to fill an unexpired term of W. H. Brown. He was one of the leaders of the Municipal League in the Twenty-second Ward and in the City Party, which nearly was successful in the municipal election of 1907. In all municipal affairs Mr. Porter has fought machine rule and has taken the side of the people where public service corporations were concerned. He is a member of the Penna. Historical Society, S. A. R., Phila. Cricket Club, Young Republicans of Germantown, City Club, University Lodge, F. and A. M., the Phila. Canoe Club, Germantown Club and of other organizations. He is elder of the West Side Presbyterian Church of Germantown, secretary of the managers of Preston Retreat and a trustee of the Bedford Street Mission.

WASHINGTON ATLEE BURPEE, head of W. Atlee Burpee & Co., seeds, was born at Sheffield, New Brunswick, April 5, 1858, the son of David and Ann C. Burpee. He came to this city with his parents, receiving his preliminary education at Friends' Central School and continued his studies at the University of Pennsylvania. At the age of eighteen, in 1876, he entered the seed business with two partners. After two years of practical experience he withdrew and established a business on his own account under the name of W. Atlee Burpee & Co. Mr. Burpee has established the largest mail order seed business in the world. The growth of the business during the time of its existence has been continuous. Mr. Burpee recognized in the beginning that the best advertisement is a satisfied customer; he therefore selected seeds of the best quality for his constantly increasing patrons. The seeds are tested and tried at his three large farms: Fordhook, near Doylestown, Pa.; Sunnybrook, N. J., and Floradale, Lompoc Valley, Cal. Quality of service and product is the motto of the Burpee establishment. This spirit extends to the provisions made for the comfort and well-being of the employees. Dining and rest rooms are provided for the women employees, and smoking and rest rooms for the men.

Mr. Burpee is a former president of the American Seed Trade Association, a director of the Wholesale Seedsmen's League, a former president of the American Sweet Pea Society and vice-president of the National Sweet Pea Society of Great Britain.

Mr. Burpee is also a director of the Market Street National Bank and the Northern Trust Company of Philadelphia. He belongs to the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade; a trustee of the Howard Hospital, the Sanitarium Association and the National Farm School. He is also a member of the Canadian Society of Philadelphia, life member of the Horticultural Society of Great Britain and the Societe Nationale d' Horticulture de France.

He is a member of the Union League of Philadelphia, the Art University, Racquet, City, Bachelors', Barge and Poor Richard Clubs, all of Philadelphia; the Merion Cricket Club and the Country Club of Lansdowne, Pa., and the National Arts and City Clubs of New York City.

The family residence is at Fordhook Farms, Doylestown. His office is at Burpee Building, Fifth and Buttonwood Streets.

GEIST, CLARENCE H., one of Philadelphia's most widely-known capitalists, was born at LaPorte, Ind., January 10, 1868. His parents were Ezra and Elsie (Bradley) Geist. The first twelve years of his life Mr. Geist spent in LaPorte, principally in his father's store. He left the home at the age of 12 and came to Chicago, but only followed according to the old adage, "He then entered the real estate business in Chicago in which business he met with large success. He then entered the field for the purchase of gas and electrical properties, and in the last ten years his progress has been phenomenal. He has raised more than $100,000,000 for these enterprises. He is a great lover of sports of all kinds, and is probably one of the most enthusiastic golfers in the United States, being a member of eighteen different clubs in different cities in the United States. He is president of the Whiteman Valley Country Club, and is now giving his attention to the construction of a new golf club at Atlantic City, which will be called the Seaview Golf Club, and which will, no doubt, be one of the most unique

THE name of Widener, familiar especially to all Philadelphians, is a very old one and from the earliest records in the early German tribes to the present generation, including the two of that name who heroically went to their death on the Titanic in 1912, has been one of prominence. Although there are several forms of spelling the name—Widenor, Widner, Weidener and Widener—it is certain that all are related to the one family.

It was at the time of the settlement of Pennsylvania that the first of this name came to America, probably to escape religious persecution, for it seems that the German Wideners were Baptists and Lutherans. Early in the history of the United States the bearers of this name made their way to different parts of the country and a branch also established itself in Canada. Through all the wars in which the nation was embroiled the name of Widener was one which always might be found on the roll. In the Revolution and the succeeding conflicts representatives of this name were found in the armies which fought for the maintenance of the Nation and the Union. But, through all the years and generations, always has the standard of the name been held high, and now in every field of endeavor among the leaders may be found a number of this name.

J. E. CALDWELL & CO.

THE house of J. E. Caldwell & Company, one of the important jewelry firms of the country, is located in the Caldwell Building opposite the Post Office, on Chestnut Street. Not only as jewelers but as originators and developers of several branches of the business has this company achieved national reputation and standing. Its collections of pearls and jewels always permit exercise of widest and most exacting choice.

As silversmiths of distinction, the firm's reputation is also country-wide. Many of the State silver services presented by Commonwealths to the battle-ships bearing their name have been designed and executed by the Caldwell Company, among them being the $25,000 service presented by Pennsylvania to the war vessel of that name. Loving cups of silver and gold, bronze tablets, memorials, church plate and medals, by their superior workmanship, and excellent design, have aided materially in the establishment of the firm's high public esteem.

The finest of Swiss watches are obtainable from this firm. And one may choose a mantel clock or an English hall clock here from the largest stock in America. Porcelains, pottery, cut glass and a comprehensive variety of objets d'art compose special exhibitions. In fact, the widest possible selection is always the privilege of every patron of this establishment.

THE PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY FOR INSURANCES ON LIVES AND GRANTING ANNUITIES.

THE history of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities for more than a hundred years has been one of continued success. The company was founded in 1809 at the Merchants' Coffee House by a group of business men of capital. In 1812 it was chartered by 205 subscribers with a capital stock of $500,000, but $100,000 was considered ample for the first year or two. A hundred years later the company had a capital of two millions, a surplus and undivided profits amounting to two and a half times that sum, twenty millions on deposit, trust funds exceeding $175,000,000 and liability for insurance less than $22,000.

The first trust estate and the first trust of personal property were noted in the records in 1838 and in 1855 the first corporation trust was assigned. The capital was doubled in 1863, and in 1872 the granting of annuities and the insuring of lives was discontinued. Since that time all attention has been directed to the banking, trust and safe deposit features. The first dividend was declared July 1, 1815, dividends being paid regularly semi-annually thereafter until April, 1911, since which date they have been paid quarterly.

RUBIN, I. H., owner of the Phototype Engraving Company, was the manager of the plant until his recent purchase of the company's stock. The company was incorporated at the time of its organization in 1903, when the officers were: S. S. Bloom, president; Millard F. Petreson, secretary; I. Rubin, treasurer; I. H. Rubin, manager. From 4335 Market Street, its first location, the offices were moved to 333-335 Arch Street. After eight years there they moved, in 1910, to their present situation at 147-151 North Tenth Street. The company has handled engraving work for some of the best known publications in the country, including the Saturday Evening Post.

ROBINSON & CRAWFORD.

KEEP TO THE TRAIL—follow along one line and keep continually at it. That was the idea with which Robinson & Crawford, Philadelphia's foremost Grocers, started in business in 1891. Their one line was Quality—High Quality—and fairness of price; and they've followed it conscientiously and persistently. Starting with one store, the business has so prospered that they now number over one hundred; and are continually increasing. It is a strictly cash business, both buying and selling; and they have not only uplifted the standard of Quality, but have maintained it. Every sale they make has a guarantee back of it (not written; broader than that; better), a guarantee of absolute satisfaction to the purchaser. It is small wonder that a business based upon such broad, progressive lines should prosper.

Some years after starting, a warehouse (for storing and distribution of goods) became urgently necessary. A few years later the original warehouse became cramped—more room was needed—and in 1912 a site for a mammoth modern plant was purchased in the very heart of the city. This property covering a very large area; bounded by four streets with the tracks of the Reading Railroad running into the building, is an exceptional location for the centralization of their receiving and distributing departments. The general offices and warehouses are shown in the illustration on the opposite page; while the low buildings in the foreground are now giving place to a large concrete warehouse, with every sanitary and modern equipment.

One of the most important features of this new warehouse is the Coffee Roasting Plant—for Robinson & Crawford are very active coffee merchants. This Roastery is the most modernly equipped and sanitary one in this country. It is so mechanically perfect that not a human hand touches the coffee throughout the whole process of roasting and blending. It DRY ROASTS all coffees; which means the elimination of all dust, dirt and moisture. It ejects all foreign matter; and turns out only coffee—with its full flavor, strength and aroma.

The progress of any commercial enterprise is measured by the public approval of the service it gives; and public approval has met Robinson & Crawford more than half way. The most particular people of Philadelphia appreciate the combining of high quality and moderate prices; and the three words which make up the firm's business policy—“Where Quality Counts”—are household words in thousands and thousands of Philadelphia homes. An old Italian proverb says: “Good peaches give fruits not flowers;” and so it has been with the progress of this house. The success of a business depends entirely upon the actual good-will of the public; and Robinson & Crawford have an ever-increasing patronage from the most thrifty and discriminating people.

HENRY K. WAMPOLE & CO.

IN 1878 Henry K. Wampole and Albert J. Koch, both residents of Philadelphia, established a wholesale drug business under a partnership agreement and under the name of Henry K. Wampole & Co., at 418 Market Street, Philadelphia. Shortly afterward they were joined by S. Ross Campbell, also of Philadelphia, and a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. The business then assumed a different character, there being abandoned entirely the wholesale drug business and the attention of the firm being devoted exclusively to the manufacture of a full line of pharmaceutical preparations as well as several pharmaceutical specialties.

This business from its inception was conducted along strictly ethical lines, the firm depending for the maintenance of those products prepared for the assistance of the physician solely upon the endorsement and support which they received from the medical profession. The firm soon found inadequate the quarters then in use and extensive laboratories were built and equipped at 424 to 432 Fairmount Avenue and extending back to Wallace and Green Streets. The most modern and up-to-date appliances and apparatus were installed and the firm became the possessor of exceptional facilities for the manufacture of its products.

Branches for the convenient and practical distribution of the products were established in various parts of the United States, and the business was finally extended into Canada, Mexico, South and Central America and foreign countries. In Perth, Ontario, a handsomely equipped laboratory was erected and in this establishment the entire varied line of products now manufactured by the Philadelphia laboratory is produced for the medical profession and drug trade of Canada. This laboratory is under the supervision of W. E. Danner, a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. A manufacturing plant was also equipped in Mexico City and placed under the supervision of John Danner, another graduate of that institution.

In September, 1906, the partnership agreement was dissolved, following the death of one of the partners. The interest of the latter was acquired by the surviving partners, S. Ross Campbell and A. J. Koch, and the business was incorporated under the name of Henry K. Wampole and Company, Incorporated, under a charter of the State of Pennsylvania. The Canadian business was also incorporated under the name of Henry K. Wampole and Company, Limited.

The management of the Philadelphia, Canadian and other laboratories is conducted under the exclusive supervision of graduates of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, and the products manufactured typify the highest standards of the manufacturing pharmacist.

A. J. M. MURDOCK AND COMPANY.

THE firm of A. J. M. Murdock and Company, founded less than fifteen years ago, on a capital of $200, now has the reputation of being one of the largest poultry, butter and egg houses in Philadelphia. Mr. Murdock left Scotland for America in 1887. His only asset, really, was his ability to work long and hard, and it was by this means that he paid for his office rent at 40-42 South Water Street. Another firm had occupied the same building, and in 1901 Mr. Murdock purchased its effects and entered business for himself. Henry S. Pennypacker became his partner in 1902. The business address of the company is 102 Vine Street.

PROVIDENT FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

PROVIDENT FRIENDLY SOCIETY pays Sick, Accident and Funeral Benefits.

The object of the Provident Friendly Society is not to make its members subjects for charity, but to help them when sickness comes, by SUBSTANTIAL AID, and when death enters, to provide for those left behind—the helpless children, widowed mother.

No one can estimate the vast amount of good that has been accomplished by beneficial societies in the past thirty years. The greatest blessing that ever came to the wage earners of this country was the inception and organization of our beneficial system; its blessings can never be tabulated; its praises can never be sung, sing we ever so well. Its history is written over the doorways of the homes it has saved from destruction, the firesides it has made brighter and the children it has saved from hunger and starvation. Office, 1332 Spring Garden Street.

PHILLIPS AND JACOBS.

THE firm of Phillips and Jacobs (James F. Magee and Company) is composed of George Brinton Phillips, Clement S. Phillips and William B. Phillips, and was established in 1865. Pure nitrate of silver, chloride of gold and chemicals for the arts are manufactured by the company, the offices of which are at 622 Race Street, Philadelphia. The refining of all kinds of gold and silver waste forms a large part of its business.

PHILADELPHIA TOILET AND LAUNDRY CO. This company is incorporated and conducts a general laundry at 1027 to 1033 Vine Street.

The firm of DUMÉE, SON & COMPANY was established in 1883. This was the first firm to introduce in the Philadelphia market what is known as "Linters," which is the second cutting of the cotton seed. The purpose for which this product was used was very much limited then, but now has grown to be quite a factor in the cotton industries. Their market covers all countries in Europe, besides all states in the Union outside of the cotton-belt states. Their extensive dealing in the straight cotton also covers same markets. The business of the company is continually expanding and each year shows a remarkable gain over the previous one.

THE Peerless Smelting and Refining Company, manufacturers of "Rainbow" metals, located at Allegheny Avenue and Richmond Street, Philadelphia, was organized in 1905 by practical men who have made the business the success that it is to-day. All kinds of white metal alloys, such as solders, monotype, linotype, stereotype, electrotypes, autoplates and babbitt metals are manufactured and many of the largest newspapers in the country are supplied with type metals by this firm. Some of the biggest manufacturing concerns receive their babbitt metal from this Philadelphia company.

The officers of the company are: President, H. S. Goldstein; secretary, Charles S. Goldstein; treasurer, William Goldstein; general manager, Burt McCarthy.

WALKER AND KEPLER.

THE oldest establishment of its kind in Philadelphia is that of Walker and Kepler, electrical contractors, whose plant is at 531 Chestnut Street. It was founded in 1883 by Isaac C. Walker, then an assistant in the employ of Thomas A. Edison. E. Preston Hicks was taken into the firm in 1886 and on his retirement in 1888 was succeeded by Henry G. Kepler, former manager of the Philadelphia and Reading R. R. Co. telegraph system. At first the business was confined to the installation of electric lighting plants, but later the electrical supply field was entered and the last department to be acquired is that of repairing electrical machinery. Many of the largest buildings in Philadelphia had their electrical installation done by this firm.

WILKINSON BROTHERS AND COMPANY, Incorporated, manufacturers, distributors and importers of paper, whose business place is 30 to 34 South Sixth Street, was established in New York in 1865. It was at 419-421 Broome Street that it had its inception, even then, nearly fifty years ago, under its present name.

Eight years ago, or in 1905, the Wilkinson Company purchased the business of A. G. Elliott and Company here, and uses a warehouse erected sixty-five years ago, which has not been closed a day on which business is conducted. Importing is one of the most important departments of the company's interests, and a general line of foreign, as well as domestic paper, is carried. Samuel S. Alcorn, who has been with the firm for fifteen years, is in charge of the Philadelphia business.

LOUIS WALTHER, founder of the Louis Walther Manufacturing Company, extensive manufacturers of dress goods and men's wear, is one of the many German-American citizens who have made a splendid record of commercial achievement in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. Walther was born in Saxony, Germany, in January, 1849. He was the descendant of a family which had been known for generations as prosperous manufacturers. After attaining his education in the high and commercial schools of his native land the young man followed his natural bent and took up the industry of his forefathers. At the age of 21 he began, in an unpretentious way, to make dress goods and men's wear, the line of manufacture which, after 40 years, he still pursues.

The small establishment prospered and Mr. Walther sought a larger field of enterprise. In 1900 he came to the United States, and immediately following his arrival in this country established the Louis Walther manufacturing plant at Indiana Avenue and A Street, Philadelphia.

Soon after its organization the Louis Walther Manufacturing Company was incorporated. Since that time the business of the enterprise has grown enormously. The extensive trade controlled by the company soon made necessary the opening of branch offices in New York City, where all styles of dress goods are kept in stock. One of these offices, known as the men's wear department, is located in the Everett Building; the other, the dress goods department, is at 29 West 21st Street. While eminently successful in both lines of manufacture, Mr. Walther has, in the last two years, been more especially so in the building up of his line of men's wear goods, of which he is the originator in the United States.

SOME FOUNDERS OF THE CHEMICAL INDUSTRY IN PHILADELPHIA.

OTH by reason of excellence of quality and volume of product Philadelphia has long been entitled to its prestige as one of the leading chemical manufacturing cities in the United States.

It was in the year 1779, the date of the Constitutional assemblage and in the days of Franklin and Washington, that the first chemical factory was established in Philadelphia by one Samuel Wetherill, Jr., a druggist of some repute. This historical enterprise was located at No. 65 North Front Street and grew to extensive proportions. Later, its founder took up the manufacture of white lead at the corner of Broad and Chestnut Streets. In 1790, Christopher Marshall, Jr., began the manufacture of sal ammoniac on a large scale. About the same time William Henderson demonstrated Philadelphia's enterprise in this line by establishing a factory on Fourth Street, where his output of potash soon formed a very considerable portion of the total amount manufactured in America at that time. In 1801, Dr. Adam Seybert established at North Second Street the plant where the first mercurials were made in the United States. A few years later John Harrison became the first manufacturer of sulphuric acid in the United States. In 1812, Charles V. Hagner established at Schuylkill Falls the pioneer drug mill of the country, perhaps in the world. To him is due the honor of revolutionizing the drug trade, not only in Philadelphia but in New York, Boston, and other cities. Machinery supplanted pestle and mortar, and in 1867 so well had the drug and chemical industry progressed that the sum realized from their manufacture in Philadelphia was $7,000,000,000.

About thirty years ago the establishment of the chemical manufacturing firm of John Wyeth & Bros., Inc., brought a new element of progress into the industry. This firm was founded by the late Francis Huston Wyeth and his brother, John Wyeth. Their first factory was on Walnut Street above Broad. Later the expanding business necessitated the erection of the present large factory at South Eleventh Street and Washington Avenue. For many years this has been one of the notable chemical firms of the city and its standard preparations bear national repute.
